

Test Strategy Redesign for Leeds and York Partnership NHS Foundation Trust

An outcomes based solution from Evolution Digital Health

Background

Leeds and York Partnership NHS Foundation Trust faced significant challenges with their clinical systems, encompassing an outdated test strategy, a lengthy six-week testing process, and mounting issues across systems that necessitated a comprehensive overhaul of their testing and release procedures.

Evolution worked rapidly to develop a project plan and scoping document, as well as finding us an excellent candidate, once we'd had our procurement decision approved

The consultant worked at pace to help understand our challenges, applying their skills and experience to give us a very clear approach to work more effectively with our suppliers and to ensure our end - to - end testing processes are robust

We simply could not have afforded a consultant of this calibre through other routes, and we're already seeing the benefits of their work, a few months after the recommendations were delivered

CARL MONEY

Head of Performance and Informatics

Challenges

- Growing complexity of the testing process
- Need for high level of assurance in system updates
- Concerns about the quality of software releases

Solutions

Evolution developed a comprehensive, industry-best-practice Testing and Release Strategy to address the trust's system challenges.

Robust, overarching Testing and Release Strategy

Detailed project plan and scoping document

Recommendations for working more effectively with suppliers

Benefits

1

Improved Efficiency

The new strategy aimed to reduce the lengthy six-week testing process, potentially saving time and resources.

2

Enhanced Quality Assurance

The comprehensive Test Strategy provided a framework for more robust and confident approach to system updates and rollouts.

3

Cost Effective Expertise

The trust gained access to high-calibre consultancy at an affordable rate, which they stated they couldn't have afforded through other routes.

evolution

www.evolutionjobs.com/nhs

Genesis Centre, Warrington,
WA3 7BH

